Use Caution, Drive Safely

Avoid driving drowsy. Ask your pharmacist.

Brought to you by the Michigan Pharmacists Association

Sandra Taylor, Pharmacist

Terri Lynn Land, Secretary of State

Ron Melaragni, Pharmacist
Use Caution, Drive Safely

Driving Drowsy

Most people know of the dangers of drinking and driving. But driving while taking certain medications can be just as dangerous. The Journal of the American Medical Association reports that 16,000 auto accidents each year can be attributed to impairment from prescription and over-the-counter drugs. Medications can affect the ability to drive, the way a few drinks can.

Many over-the-counter medications that are purchased to treat pain, cold, flu and allergy symptoms cause drowsiness. Driving while drowsy can impair an individual’s ability to properly control a vehicle. Drivers may even be unaware that their driving skills have been affected. Being drowsy behind the wheel puts everyone on the road at risk.

Get the Right Advice

Pharmacists are the best resource for information about the side effects of medications. Always read the warning labels on your medication and ask your pharmacist if you have any questions.

Avoid Driving Drowsy. Ask Your Pharmacist.

Michigan Pharmacists Association
www.michiganpharmacists.org

Supported in part through a grant from the Community Pharmacy Foundation
Driving Drowsy

Most people know of the dangers of drinking and driving. But driving while taking certain medications can be just as dangerous. The Journal of the American Medical Association reports that 16,000 auto accidents each year can be attributed to impairment from prescription and over-the-counter drugs. Medications can affect the ability to drive, the way a few drinks can.

Many over-the-counter medications that are purchased to treat pain, cold, flu and allergy symptoms cause drowsiness. Driving while drowsy can impair an individual's ability to properly control a vehicle. Drivers may even be unaware that their driving skills have been affected. Being drowsy behind the wheel puts everyone on the road at risk.

Get the Right Advice

Pharmacists are the best resource for information about the side effects of medications. Always read the warning labels on your medication and ask your pharmacist if you have any questions.

Avoid Driving Drowsy.
Ask Your Pharmacist.

Michigan Pharmacists
ASSOCIATION
www.michiganpharmacists.org

Secretary of State
www.Michigan.gov/sos

Supported in part through a grant from the Community Pharmacy Foundation
Use Caution, Drive Safely
Avoid driving drowsy. Ask your pharmacist.

Brought to you by the Michigan Pharmacists Association
Sandra Taylor
Pharmacist

Terri Lynn Land
Secretary of State

Ron Melaragni
Pharmacist